

Lincoln in Focus

OUT AND ABOUT

Dear local resident,

Welcome to March's edition of my monthly newsletter.

March has been another busy month across Lincoln, out on the doorstep, visiting local schools and organisations, and continuing to stand up for our city both locally and in Parliament. From classrooms to community events, it's been a privilege to meet people from across our city and hear directly about the issues that matter most to you.

Manor Leas Junior School

I was delighted to visit Manor Leas Junior School, where I met some of the school's future leaders. We had a great discussion about their ideas for the future and I also spoke with the headteacher about the challenges around school drop-off and pick-up times. It's always inspiring to hear young people's perspectives and see the enthusiasm they have for improving their community.

The Meadows Primary School

I also visited The Meadows Primary School to hear about pupils' ideas on protecting the environment. They shared some thoughtful suggestions, and I've since written to the City Council to make sure their ideas are heard. It's fantastic to see young people taking such an active interest in the future of our planet.
