OUT AND ABOUT

Dear resident,

September has been another busy month getting out and about across Lincoln, meeting residents, local organisations, businesses and community groups.

From knocking on doors and holding surgeries, to celebrating local organisations and speaking with people about the issues that matter to them, I've continued to make sure I'm listening directly to people across our city.

Listening to residents

I've continued to spend time out on the doorstep across Lincoln, speaking with residents about the issues affecting their streets and neighbourhoods. Door knocking is one of the best ways to hear directly from people about what matters to them, alongside my regular surgeries where constituents can raise issues with me directly and discuss how I can help.

Coffee, conversations and community

I held a coffee morning this month, giving local residents the chance to come along, have a chat and raise any issues or concerns with me.

I also joined Labour members for a members' coffee morning. It was a really good opportunity to catch up with members, hear their views and talk about the work we're doing for Lincoln.

These informal conversations are an important part of being a local MP and making sure I stay connected to the people I represent.

Pride in Place Birchwood

I was back in Birchwood this month, delivering leaflets and meeting members of the Pride in Place board. The £20 million, ten-year programme is being shaped by local residents, with communities deciding where investment is needed. It was great to hear about the work underway and priorities for the years ahead.

Supporting our community

I joined the Macmillan Coffee Morning at Holy Cross Church this month. It was lovely to see so many people coming together to support such an important cause. A big thank you to everyone who organised, baked, donated and came along.

Celebrating Lincoln's History

It was a privilege to attend the unveiling of a new blue plaque in Lincoln, celebrating an important part of our city's history. Lincoln has an incredibly rich heritage, and I'm always pleased to support efforts to recognise the people and stories that have helped shape our city.

Visiting Fenner Precision Polymers

I visited Fenner Precision Polymers to learn more about their work in Lincoln and speak with staff about the opportunities and challenges facing the business. It was great to see the work underway and hear about the importance of skilled manufacturing jobs to our local economy.

KEY ISSUES

RAF Scampton

The future of RAF Scampton remains an important issue for people across Lincoln. I know how strongly people feel about protecting the site's proud history while finding it a positive future. I'll have more to say on this soon and will continue to make sure local voices are heard.

Ellis Mill

I know the future of Ellis Mill continues to be a concern for many people in Lincoln. It is an important part of our city's heritage and a much-loved local landmark, and I understand why residents want to see it protected for future generations. I've written to the Minister for Heritage to raise these concerns and highlight the importance of finding a sustainable future for the mill. I'm currently awaiting a response and will continue to keep an eye on the situation and update residents as I hear more.

And Remember...

If you have an issue you'd like to raise, or if you'd like to get involved, please get in touch - I'm here to help.
